

Sponsor an AIHM Fellow

Invest in the Future of Healthcare

As an Institutional Sponsor of the AIHM Fellowship Program in Integrative Health & Medicine, your financial contribution will assist healthcare practitioners with tuition costs. By increasing the number of providers trained in integrative health practices, we can begin the paradigm shift toward true collaborative care that emphasizes prevention, wellness and treating the whole-person. Help us shape the future of integrative healthcare.

Applicants are only eligible for one type of financial support: scholarships or one of the two institutional support options outlined above.

We are changing the future of healthcare, one provider at a time.

What we do

We are shaping a new paradigm in healthcare that is prevention-focused, uses collaboration across all healthcare and wellness professions, and is truly heart-centered. We are transforming the healthcare system through evidence-based integrative medicine education.

Why we need your support

Most medical schools do not educate providers on integrative and prevention-based healthcare practices. We believe this is the best way to improve patient care, outcomes, reduce healthcare costs and move beyond our existing model of symptomatic medicine.

Our impact

Training over 300 fellows in integrative health & medicine by 2020

Educating over 20,000 healthcare professionals each year in integrative medicine practices

Connecting over 100,000 patients with integrative health providers

Submitting research, journal articles and editorial content to over 80 publications

Forming strategic alliances with hospitals, medical organizations, higher education institutions and associations.
